I would say that we had to postpone The Big Bash in Baghdad™ because Bono lost his voice, quelle dommage, but in fact Dick (Biggus) Cheney claims that he had the idea first, that it was schedule for mid-September and that John Ashcroft not Jessica Simpson must sing both our National Anthem but also the Iraqi National Anthem which sounds just like you think it would.

Ticket sales for The Big Bash in Baghdad™ were brisk, especially in Germany where one enthusiast wrote:

“Mein Fuhrer:

May we please to bring autoweapons with us or will autoweapons be available for your loyal soldier to purchase? Seig heil, Adolph, H, (no relation), Berlin, GDR”

To which The Reverend Tony™ replied:

“Dear Adolph H,

Either way is fine but we are only accepting VISA for credit card purchases. If you do bring your own autoweapons, please remember that you may only bring enough ammunition for “personal use only” and not for resale. Your limit is 100,000 rounds for “personal use only” and you know what The Reverend Tony means by that. Enjoy the show, The Reverend Tony, Austin, Texas”

Next time will be your first chance to invest in The Reverend Tony’s latest money making scheme, a magic elixir that we call Placibox©™ and our slogan is “It Cures Everything!!!”
